Miguel Morales Estrada trabaja en Veracruz, que se ha convertido en el estado más peligroso para la prensa en México, según la investigación del CPJ. Morales, quien trabaja para el Diario de Poza Rica y de forma independiente para el periódico Tribuna Papanteca en la ciudad de Papantla, desapareció tras avisar a los directores del Diario de Poza Rica que necesitaba salir de la ciudad por “problemas personales”, según un comunicado de la Procuraduría General de Justicia de Veracruz. El periodista fue visto por última vez por su esposa en la ciudad de Poza Rica, en el estado de Veracruz, según informes de prensa locales . El lunes, la esposa de Morales presentó una demanda ante la procuraduría general de justicia del estado de Veracruz, según informes de prensa. Las autoridades afirmaron que iniciaron una investigación sobre la desaparición del reportero, según informes de prensa. “Instamos a las autoridades mexicanas a investigar de forma exhaustiva la desaparición de Miguel Morales Estrada”, afirmó Carlos Lauría, coordinador senior del programa de las Américas de CPJ. “Una investigación completa y efectiva enviaría un señal a la sociedad y a la prensa de Veracruz que las autoridades tienen la intención de proteger su derecho a la libertad de expresión”. Reporteros locales indicaron al CPJ que la desaparición de Morales está agudizando el temor entre los periodistas de Veracruz. Desde marzo de 2011, por los menos dos periodistas desaparecieron en Veracruz, uno de ellos fue hallado muerto casi dos meses mas tarde, según la investigación del CPJ. Otros periodistas han abandonado sus ciudades por temor a represalias, según la investigación del CPJ. México es uno de los países mas peligrosos del mundo para la prensa, muestra la investigación del CPJ . Para más información y análisis sobre México, visite nuestra página sobre México aquí .
